HOW IT IMPACTS POOR CALIFORNANS

Denies Food & $128/Month to Adult, Childcare to Kids
Extra Pressure on Food Banks, Rehab & Childcare
Increased Recidivism, Makes Communities Less Safe
Increased Time on Aid – Reduced Economic Stimulus

No Proof it Helped Anything

CONTEXT: CALIFORNIA’S HIGH PRISON POPULATION & PRISON REALIGNMENT

AB 109: Prison Realignment of non-violent offenders to county jail.
High Recidivism: CA has 2nd highest Recidivism in Country.
State In Court Over Prison Overcrowding: Governor Brown faced court injunction to reduce prison population.
Several Failed Attempts to Repeal: Nearly every year since 1997, various legislators, supported by faith, drug policy & anti-hunger community tried to pass legislation to lift the ban.

NOTE: AB 109 was Governor Brown’s proposal.
NEW RESEARCH: ACCESS TO JOBS & BASIC NEEDS PREVENTS RECIDIVISM

Recidivism High: Two-thirds of those released from prison in CA will be rearrested, and one-half will be re-incarcerated, within 3 yrs of release.

SNAP Can Reduce Recidivism: Research on re-offending patterns among women found that state-sponsored support programs, especially services related to job training, health, education and housing that address short-term economic needs, reduce the odds of recidivism by 83 percent.

Reducing Costly Cycle of Imprisonment: In addition to being more humane, preventing recidivism by offering support services is costly. For every 200 inmates that are deterred from committing new crimes, up to $2 million (General Fund) in state prison cost savings or $7.3 million in local jail cost savings could be realized.
